

The King's Daughter

LibriVox

Isabella Alden

Dell Bronson has been reared in Boston by her refined uncle and aunt until, at age 18, she is called home by her father, a coarse tavern owner in Lewiston. As a daughter of the heavenly King, she strives to honor her heavenly Father by wooing her earthly father to Christ and away from rum. Set in the era of the temperance movement of the 1800's. Authored by Isabella M. Alden under the pen name "Pansy." Third in the Ester Ried series. (Summary by TriciaG)

- | | |
|--|--|
| 01 – Dell's Return Home – 00:14:38 | 13 – A Strange Scene in a Bar Room – 00:14:18 |
| 02 – The Young Mistress – 00:13:32 | 14 – A Trip to Boston – 00:14:43 |
| 03 – The Letter and the Visitor – 00:14:51 | 15 – The Review – 00:13:30 |
| 04 – Signing the Pledge – 00:13:05 | 16 – Principle or Expediency – 00:13:55 |
| 05 – The Temperance Meeting – 00:13:48 | 17 – Little Mamie's Death – 00:14:46 |
| 06 – The Drunkard's Home – 00:14:59 | 18 – Signing the Pledge the Second Time – 00:11:59 |
| 07 – The Infant Class – 00:16:03 | 19 – The Wedding and the Wine – 00:14:07 |
| 08 – Finding Recruits for the Temperance Army – 00:14:33 | 20 – The Sad Funeral – 00:13:24 |
| 09 – The Tea Party – 00:18:22 | 21 – Jim Forbes' Speech – 00:12:30 |
| 10 – Dell's Visitors – 00:14:35 | 22 – The Fire – 00:12:44 |
| 11 – How to Teach Reckless Boys – 00:15:27 | 23 – The Doctors and their Patient – 00:11:49 |
| 12 – The Temperance Dialogue – 00:16:40 | 24 – The Strange Wedding – 00:12:13 |

Total running time: 5:40:31

Read by Tricia G